Colin G. Jones of Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, writes: "I was given some old 1970 issues by an old Fantail breeder, and the letters published in them from people all over the world are most interesting. I have Flying Tiplers and have read some good articles by Heinz KaupschacfcT from West Germany published in the Journal. The information gathered on other breeds which are mentioned in the Journal is first class, since you have some of the best breeders in the world writing these articles. I also fly Racing Homers! and have a big interest in any flying pigeon, especially the Flying Tumbler breeds of Europe, such as the Stettin and Prague Tumblers. I would be very interested to read any articles published on them in the APJ by any Americans who might be breeding them. I find it hard to believe that pigeons such as the Prague Tumbler is not more popular as a flying breed in America. It states in Levi's 'Encyclopedia of Pigeon Breeds' that these birds fly up to 8 hours a day at such incredible heights that they are completely out of sight. If ever the Australian Government allows pigeons to be imported. I would import a large number of these Tumblers, as I feel there is too much interest spent on exhibiting pigeons, and not enough time spent on flying them. I have an interest in every breed of pigeon that exists, but we must keep flying them, otherwise their wheeling and tuming in our skies might become just a memory in the future of our overcrowded cities."

John B. Earscher of Kaakauna, Wis.: "May I congratulate you on continuing ,,'jth frank's work in publishing this great magazine. Our sincere wishes from all the members of the American Tumbler Club."

Ken Larrey, Santa Cruz, Calif: "Thank you for furnishing the Pigeon Fancy with the finest book or magazine in the entire world. Your magazine has supplied me with countless tips and health solutions. Keep up the great work."

James F. Smith, NorWich, Conn.: "The ITA thanks you and we very much appreciate the job you do for the Tipler fanciers and all pig on fanciers the world over. If it wasn't for the Journal, our hobby would be an obscure effort. We salute you."
